

The number one reason Utah men and women get screened for colon cancer is because their doctor recommended it.

Colon cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths in Utah.

FREE colonoscopies are available to qualifying Utahns

The Utah Cancer Control Program (UCCP) is offering a limited number of free colonoscopies to Utah residents who cannot afford the screening test.

Patient Referral

To refer a patient for a free colonoscopy, the Primary Care Provider should:

1. Call UCCP to sign up as a referring provider (1-800-717-1811)
2. Sign and return the provider agreement

After the agreement is signed, the following steps need to be completed for each patient.

3. Submit a completed enrollment form for the patient
4. After the enrollment form is received, the UCCP clinical coordinator can set up a free colonoscopy appointment with the patient
5. Provider is responsible for follow-up with patient after colonoscopy

Patients cannot refer themselves for a free colonoscopy. Only Primary Care Providers can refer patients to the program.

Continued on back.

Patient Qualifications

- Ages 50-64
- Meet income guidelines
- Inadequate or no health insurance
- Legal U.S. and current Utah resident
- Average risk for colon cancer
 - » No personal or family history of colorectal cancer or adenomas
 - » No history of inflammatory bowel disease (ulcerative colitis or Crohn's Disease)
 - » No history of genetic colon cancer or polyp syndromes
- Must present without symptoms

The patient is defined as symptomatic if the following symptoms persist longer than 3 months and are not well explained by another disease.

- » blood in stool or rectal bleeding
- » change in bowel habits
- » abdominal pain
- » weight loss
- » fatigue

Colon Cancer Treatment

UCCP has partnered with treatment facilities willing to provide free or low-cost treatment to patients diagnosed with colon cancer through the program. UCCP's clinical coordinator will provide case management to help program patients access treatment.

Questions

1-800-717-1811

www.cancerutah.org